HELPING THE GENERALS.

The following self-explanatory telegram was received at The Journal editorial rooms Sunday morning:

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 25.
EDITOR THE JOURNAL:—You are appointed by war department to receive from the people of Pacific Coast contributions of funds for General Lawton's family. I am confident that merely a statement of the purpose will result in quick response from your generous people at this Christmas season. Your aid is requested; contributions will be acknowledged by letter and through press. Address me at Army Headquarters, San Francisco.

WILLIAM R. SHAFER,
Major General U. S. Volunteers.
While this appeal may be prompted by the best of motives, this paper does not feel inclined to fall in with the proposition. In the first place, the family of the unfortunate Gen. Lawton is not in need, and in the next place the death of their husband and father is no greater blow than is the death of a private soldier to his bereaved family. The family of a general of the army is amply provided for by the nation, while that of the simple soldier is not. Where one general loses his life, thousands of the rank and file go down to death. The families of the latter, where they have any, are usually destitute, and seldom provided for by the nation for which their husbands and fathers gave up his life.

Under the circumstances, this Journal does not feel like asking its readers to raise a fund for the family of the brave Gen. Lawton. If a movement were undertaken to do something for the widows and orphans of the plain soldiers, we feel confident that we could pledge a liberal fund from THE JOURNAL's large family of readers. If Gen. Shaffer and his brother officers wish to do something for the orphans of their gallant dead it would not be out of place, but it seems in poor taste to ask

JOURNAL X-RAYS.

Next to keeping out of jail, try to keep out of debt.

Begging for the rich is a fraud, but begging for the poor is unpopular.

Some good preachers have been made out of newspaper men, but seldom the reverse.

How to pay their binding twice bills to the trust is bothering some farmers more than how the Philippines should be governed.

THE JOURNAL has many holiday presents to be thankful for, but greatest among them is the good will of its many patrons.

At the city election in Sumpter three candidates for marshal had 98, 99, and 100 votes respectively. It took some good counting to settle the matter.

The attempt of the organ of the defunct push to traduce the Bishop administration by shelling crocodile tears over a fake case of distress in almost-par with the J. W. Smith racket.

For the first time in many years the people of Polk county sent men to the last legislature who didn't need a banker sit beside them and tell them how to vote. Some more counties should do likewise.

Some silver men think the whole country will be ruined by the enactment of the new financial bill, some gold men also think a little silver or a few greenbacks will produce the same results. No use of either side going crazy.

The Salem paper that came near being bribed by two merchants to keep still about the small pox fake, must have been more completely tempted made up of individuals, who are both self-supporting and self-governing. They possess the spirit of democracy, to the extent, at least, that they are self-dependent, looking to no one for help, but desiring to be let alone; to stand alone. There is much manhood in their ranks, much virtue in their composition, which the habits and customs of "advanced civilization" have not as yet corroded and weakened. Being men of independence and self-control they are fighters and defenders to the death of their rights. Our sympathies go out to them, because they stand and still stand for their rights against a much superior force, and against men who are hired to fight them, and who fight them more to add to the material wealth of the powerful few than to increase the blessings of liberty and opportunity among men. And we are gratified at the success of the Boers, because Paul Kruger offered before the war to submit the difference to arbitration, selecting the president of the United States as the arbiter, and this fair proposition was refused in English cold blood, just after the Peace Conference at the Hague. Laying aside all other reason, these afford ample ground on which liberty loving men can stand in their sympathy and support in the cause of the Boers who may not be entirely right but are nearest right.

Mr. D. S. Young, the Newport agent man recently received $50 cash for an agate.

Eugene Guard—A Pittful case is that of S. L. Clements (Mark Twain). The literary productions of his early and mature manhood had much of the fire of genius. But like the orange that is pressed too often his latter works were dry and lacked the genuine humor that marked his earlier productions, like the "Innocents Abroad" for instance. Clements was goaded by publishers' spurs beyond mental endurance. Now at the age of sixty-four he writes. The last San Francisco Sunday Call has a page credited to him the reading of which is positively painful.

Goldwin Smith's Opinion.

Dr. Goldwin Smith condemns the stand taken by Great Britain in the South African war in no uncertain words. He quotes approvingly from a letter received from "a highly educated English gentleman with the sentiment of his class," which deplores the war as unjustified, as the ruin of harmony among the races and as implanting in the breast of the Boer an indelible hatred of Great Britain, the only redeeming feature of the war being that it sounds the death knell of imperial federation, as no colony would be found to unite in political scheme which would put it at the mercy of every gust of ill-founded passion that might for a moment sweep across the central power, Dr.

"My correspondent might have remarked that it is not even by a gust of popular passion that we have been swept into war, but by the machinations of two men for their own personal objects, one of the two being not less known for unscrupulous ambition, than he is for his ability, and the other being Cecil Rhodes.

"The staking horse of 'franchisement' for the 'Uitlanders' having served its purpose, has been laid aside and replaced by British supremacy in South Africa. The pretense of 'human right,' under which the clerical abettors of the war shelter themselves, has been laid aside, the watchword now being 'equality for all white men,' while the brown men, vastly outnumbering the whites, are philanthropically consigned to indefinite bondage.

"As it is the end is certain, and by this time may practically have come. Yet the stand which this little farmer commonwealth has made for its independence against the banded forces of a world-wide Empire, backed by the diplomatic encouragement of the great powers, including the American Republic, has hardly a parallel in history."

CATHOLICISM'S JUBILEE.

Noteworthy Celebration in a Most Notable Career.

For several months there has been an unusual stir at Rome in connection with the great preparations for the "anno sacro," or sacred year, proclaimed by Pope Leo XIII. to begin at midnight on December 31, and ending at midnight on December 31, 1900. Both at the moment of the beginning of the new year and at its close in 1900 the holy sacrament will be celebrated in Catholic churches throughout Christendom, and the exercises at Rome during the year will partake of a jubilee character.

Appeal to the Clergy.
"Peace Sunday in War Times" is the title of a column remembrance and appeal issued by William T. Stead to the clergy of all denominations in Great Britain. He beseeches those who are "at ease in Zion," who have been and are "dumb dogs and faithless shepherds of Israel," in the present crisis to consider with a searching heart whether they as ministers of the Prince of Peace, have done all in their power to avert the terrible scourge of war. He says:
"It may be your duty to slay your brother, but that mournful duty should never be undertaken save in a spirit of intense sorrow and compassion. Above all, it should be damned if it is waged in a spirit of vengeance. It is this which makes the apathy of the churches so absolutely amazing."

Some men have an idea that it is beneath a man's dignity to trouble himself much about his personal appearance. If anything is said upon the subject they snort with disdain, and say they leave vanity to the women.
A man never made a greater mistake. A man should not only be at all times neatly dressed, but also clean and wholesome of body. The man who is so is the man that succeeds. The man who does not care a copper about his dress, whose face is rendered unsightly by pimples, blotches and eruptions, whose complexion is sallow, whose eyes are heavy, whose shoulders are bent and whose carriage is slouchy, does not succeed, either in business or in social life. A man like that should be sentenced to live for thirty days in a room where the walls were whitened with lime, and he should be dressed in a white sheet, and he should be made to look at himself in a mirror every day. He would then get sick of his own unwholesome, just as other people do. Such a man should have an honest pretense that he did not flatter him always before his eyes. It only costs a trifle for a man to dress well, and it costs still less for him to keep clean, wholesome and healthy in a physical way. When a man's stomach is right and his digestion is right, his blood will be pure and rich and he will be wholesome and healthy physically. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes a man right in every way by making his stomach, liver and digestion right. It gives him an hearty appetite and facilitates the assimilation of the life-giving elements of the food. It drives out all impurities from the blood. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It does not build false flesh or make corpulent people more corpulent. Honest druggists don't advise substitutes.

"I was dead all the time," writes J. Edwards Davis, Reg. State of Ohio, "I had been laid up for weeks with pneumonia, and was too weak to get up. I was troubled with pimples, boils, bluish, blotchy and ugly skin. At one time I had twenty-eight boils on my back. I was very dependent and thought nothing would cure me. Then I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine, together with Dr. Pierce's Peppermint Cure, cured me. I feel now as healthy as a horse. What's the matter with your pimples?"
